SINCE 1843

Producer of number plate production lines

JKG is one of the world's leading producers of number plate production lines. Our development teams have decades of experience in designing, producing and finally installing/commissioning the most demanding production lines. All our production facilities are customised to meet any demand the customer may have in terms of speed, and processing of safety features.

HSRP production systems

JKG is able to design, develop, produce, install, commission production facilities for all current production methods. Either being it the "German" system, the "French" system, or a combination of both systems integrated in one HSRP laminating system, we have the answer AND the experience. We equally provide in line solutions for a wide variety of safety features known and used in the world today.
